

For Immediate Release
Contact: Arwen Rahn, 310.309.1019

Rapid Growth Propels Chandler Chicco Companies-Los Angeles Into New Office Space

New Hires, Growing Client Roster Drive Need for Increased Space in Award-Winning Year

LOS ANGELES, June 19, 2007 - Chandler Chicco Companies (CCC), a global network of healthcare communications agencies, today announced its Los Angeles office has moved into larger, "collaborative" office space in Santa Monica, Calif., to support its increasing client base and staff.

A pioneer of the open-work environment in the agency world, CCC has a "no walls, no titles" philosophy that allows the company to remain flexible and independent. Chandler Chicco Companies Los Angeles (CCC-LA), led by Julie Adrian, a Healthcare Businesswomen's Association 2007 Rising Star, offers clients innovative communications backed with experience in the full healthcare spectrum, including large and specialty pharmaceutical, biotechnology, medical device and diagnostics, hospital systems and managed care.

"The West Coast is decidedly one of our hotspots this year for top-line revenue growth and vibrancy of client engagements. Office revenues for 2007 are slated to show double-digit growth over 2006," said Robert Chandler, co-founder of Chandler Chicco Companies.

Chandler Chicco Companies-LA has added eight strategic new hires since the beginning of the year, including: Maureen Ranney, a former senior vice president at Fischer Health, who brings more than 15 years of medical device, diagnostics and pharmaceutical experience; Jakob Jakobsen, who re-joins the agency as a senior media specialist and brings more than 12 years of healthcare experience; and Christina Curran, a former executive director at Pascale Communications, who brings more than 11 years of media expertise within the ophthalmology, neurology and dermatology fields.

Chandler Chicco Companies - which includes Chandler Chicco Agency, PRWeek's Agency of the Year and The Holmes Report's Healthcare and Specialty Agency of the Year, and Biosector 2 - offers strategic public relations and communications counsel to clients that include hospitals, NGOs, healthcare associations, coalitions, device and diagnostic companies, and most of the world's largest pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies. CCC has offices in New York, London, Los Angeles, Washington and Paris. The new Los Angeles office is located at 1315 Lincoln Boulevard, Suite 270, Santa Monica, CA, 90401.

###